Congregational United Church of Christ Neenah / Menasha

Hello church!
This month I am issuing you a challenge, which if you choose to accept it, I believe this will help you to right-size yourself in relationship with God, your neighbor, and yourself. A spiritual reset, if you will, that I believe we all need amid these extraordinary days we are living through. I believe that if we are not intentional about doing these sorts of things, we never will actually do these sorts of things. Today I share a reflection written by Rev. Traci Blackmon, former Associate General Minister of Justice & Local Church Ministries at The United Church of Christ:

> "In 1980, Rev. Dr. Howard Thurman shared the following words at the Baccalaureate address at Spelman College: 'There is something in every one of you that waits, listens for the sound of the genuine in yourself, and if you cannot hear it, you will never find whatever it is for which you are searching… One of the gifts of wilderness seasons is alone time with God. The other gift is alone time with yourself. There are some Divine messages we may miss in the cacophony of life. The noise can inhibit our ability to hear God clearly, whether God speaks in our hearts, in our minds, or even in our own throats. Jesus knew the sound of the genuine, so he was not deceived by the tempter. How are you listening for God these days? Where are you listening? Sometimes, we hear God more clearly when we step away. Hagar heard God more clearly while hiding in the desert alone. (Genesis 16:13) Elijah heard God in a still small voice while he was hiding in a cave. (1 Kings 19: 9-1) Where is your quiet place? Where do you wait and listen for the sound of the genuine within? SHHH…Listen. God is still speaking."

This month I am challenging you to take the time to answer Traci's question: "Where do you wait and listen for the sound of the genuine within?" Then I want you to go there, wait, and listen. This is a big deal for those of us whose schedules drive us and deny us the opportunity to hear the "genuine within." Oh, and one more thing, I want you to do it today. Don't wait until tomorrow. Waiting for tomorrow, or when you will have more time, is a ruse that will leave you at the end of your life wondering why you never slowed down in the first place. Then, it's too late. You are the only one who can make the time you need to tend to your soul, your spirit, and yourself. Do it. Do it now. Do it again tomorrow, and the day after that. Do it often. You won't regret it. Everyone will have a different answer to Traci's question.

If you are like me, you will have several answers and options from which to choose if you accept this challenge. I am like Hagar, I need to step away to hear the voice of God, to hear an authentic and genuine voice from within. Sometimes I drive to the lake and sit in my car and watch the water. That's it. Somedays that is all it takes.

Other times it can be a phone call with a dear friend I have not talked to in far too long, where we end up having one of "those" conversations. You know the type, a conversation that takes you both down memory lane, also sharing where you were in the moment, and then talking about your dreams for the future. Somewhere in the space where someone you love openly and without judgment simply listens you to, that is a sacred space where I will hear either my genuine self, God's voice, or both, speaking to me during, or afterwards when reflecting on the conversation.

Another space I find is always other than where I am right now. It can be a new coffee shop, or a drive out of town for the day. Whatever it is it doesn't seem to matter where I go, it just appears to matter that I do go. I seem to thrive somewhere new, walking into something unexpected, and just sit, and be. Breathe. Relax. Then it happens. I hear a genuine voice from within.
Accept this challenge, claim the spaces you need to connect to God more fully, let the Divine reveals God's grace and mercy, even the wisdom of God to you in new ways as we make our way through the last days of Lent and Holy Week towards to joyous celebration of Easer Sunday. Do this and you will be blessed. Find your voice by listening to the still-speaking God.

Amen and Alleluia,

Pastor Rob

APRIL SPECIAL OFFERING

SHARE THE LIGHT

One Great HOUR OF SHARING

"Here's another way to put it: you're here to be light, bring out the God colors in the world. God is not a secret to be kept. We're going public with this, as public as a city on a hill. If I make you light bearers, you don't think I'm going to hide you under a bucket, do you? I'm putting you on a light stand. Now that I put you there on a hilltop, on a light stand – shine! Keep open house; be generous with your lives. By opening up to others, you'll prompt people to open up with God, this generous Parent in heaven." Matthew 5:14 (The Message)

Background.
On Easter Sunday in 1949, on the nationwide radio, Christians were challenged to do donate $1 million in one hour to help people devastated by the aftermath of World War II. Faithful Christians answered the challenge : in the goal was met.

That was the beginning of One Great Hour of Sharing Offering (OGHS). This year marks the 75th anniversary of its inception. Our world has changed since 1949, but human needs remained.

OGHS continues to carry God's message of love and hope to people in crisis.

Since the first offering, OGHS has expanded its mission to support domestic and international development, by poverty and its consequences, bring aid and relief to communities, torn by war, or ravaged by natural disaster, advocate and offer resettlement assistance for refugees and displaced persons, and combat injustice in its mini forms. OHS provides funding and hands-on assistant, and collaboration with local and international partners.
